He told them that it is a life style disease and that the fried and greasy food taken since childhood like chowmin and burgers are causing all these diseases. Not only diabetes but heart disease and Hypertension are also spreading like an epidemic in the small cities and even the villages as there are people who earn money by white collar jobs in which all the physical activities have become restricted. For such people regular exercise for an hour daily is essential. The diet should contain row vegetables and leafy boiled vegetables.
